Journey from A Student to a Professor

It was in the year 2009, when I got admission in the college of my dreams - SPB college. When I was at school the name which came on everyone's mind when it came to college education was SPB college - "THE BEST" "NUMBER 1" All my friends wanted to study at SPB and I was the lucky one .

As a student, SPB college gave me the platform, encouraged me in every activity. I have learnt many things from different professors like to be punctual, to be attentive in class, to be multi talented in all activities, to participate in cultural activities, many more things. In addition to that the college provided me a platform to study, perform and blossom. My personality developed because of SPB and even as I was studying, I always dreamt of working as a lecturer at SPB. Having completed my M. Com. degree course, I got an opportunity to work with my professors at my alma mater.

It was like next to impossible to be a part of SPB, but with God's grace I was appointed as a lecturer and one of my dreams came true. However, my place has changed from sports room to staff room, from sitting on a bench to addressing students from the stage. The delight in securing the job was great but the real story is in learning to teach which unfolds as you enter the classroom as a lecturer. Transition from student to teacher is a significant one and the support of the principal and staff helped in easing that transition into the college and into the teaching profession.

All professors were always there with me, their teaching experience and other experiences too make me strong. I always tried to grasp many things from them, and have learnt many things. Thanks everyone for boosting me in all activities. Time flies and I have completed 3 years of teaching at SPB. The most memorable part of my life i.e from 2009 to 2017, is my journey from a student to a professor. Here relationship has changed from student - teacher to colleagues, but for me they were, they are and they will remain my gurus forever.

On this Silver Jubilee occasion, I wish SPB prospers more and more and hope it celebrates Golden Jubilee, Platinum Jubilee in years to come. I am very lucky to be a part of SPB college.

Success comes to those who aim for it and at SPB we always strive for the Best.
