Editorial

Dear Readers,

I indeed feel proud to place before you the eleventh issue of the college magazine 'INDEX'. 2015-16 being the Silver Jubilee Year I feel elated to share a few treasured moments that mark our journey to excellence.

Carrying forward the agenda of information clubbed with entertainment, the magazine provides a platform for both students and staff to share their thoughts and experiences and thereby showcase their talent in the creative arena.

The year 2015-16 has been an exceptional year full of various activities by the students and faculty in academic, co-curricular, extra-curricular as well as research and development. This magazine has recorded achievements such as: conferences attended by staff members and students, competitions won by the highly talented students, innovative projects carried out by students with the guidance of staff, among others. They stand as a witness to the monumental efforts taken by the Principal and the management to make the college a centre of excellence in education and research.

The magazine also records the enthusiastic participation of students in cultural and social activities along with sports and other co-curricular events. The committee applauds the overwhelming response of students and staff towards Community Service Activities under NSS.

On behalf of the Magazine Committee I would like to express my considerable appreciation to one and all who have contributed to this issue of INDEX. Their generous contribution of time and willingness to make the effort to share knowledge, concerns and special insights has made this issue possible.

Our Principal Dr. Vipin D. Naik has been a pillar of strength and a constant source of motivation for us. I wholeheartedly thank him for his support, encouragement and guidance in all our endeavours.

I express my sincere thanks to the editorial team for their willing co-operation and commendable inputs in bringing forth this issue.

Thank you all!!

From The Principal's Desk

With hearty appreciation and compliments to our dear students, students' council and teaching and administrative staff for their efforts in making this academic year a fruitful and enjoyable one and with a sense of delight and a certain level of satisfaction I forward this issue of 'Index', the college magazine. I am sure that the contents of articles, reports of various committees and other information contained in the magazine will provide the readers ample reasons for my expression of sense of appreciation, delight and satisfaction because living up to our mission-motto "S-P-B" i. e. " Study – Perform – Blossom", throughout the year students and staff have been studying and performing well in curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities and thereby attaining a fresh stage of "Blossom" in their career and character. Some highlights of such 'studies' and 'performances' are as follows:

Keeping the tradition during this year too, a number of our students have performed creditably in sports and as many as ten students of the college have found places in various sports teams of VNSGU, Surat, to play at national level in Inter University Tournaments. One of the student of the college represented India in inter-national table tennis tournament. Two students of our college were members of West Zone Inter-University Runners-up Badminton team of VNSGU. The college bagged championship for the 20th successive year in Table Tennis (W). In total college bagged three championships, eleven prizes/awards in inter collegiate sports tournaments.

In cultural activities about sixty students participated in various inter college competitions and VNSGU Youth Festival-2016. College bagged nine prizes in the VNSGU Youth Festival. Drama bagged first prize for the third consecutive year. "Devdasini" a one-act play, bagged second prize at National and First prize at West Zone inter-state competition. The college also organized cultural event 'SPB FEST', in which about 120 students took active part to make it a very successful event.

College successfully organized inter-college book review competition. Students have also shown their talent in debate, elocution and business presentation events and bagged one rotating shield, eight first positions and total thirty prizes.

All the members of our staff have been actively taking part in publishing research papers and attending and presenting papers at State/National/Inter National level seminars, conferences, workshops and are showing appreciable consciousness about their professional development. During the current year faculty members published thirty research papers in the peer reviewed journals and conference proceedings. They also participated in knowledge based Workshops and Training Programmes. Eight students were successfully guided for the award of Ph. D degree by the research guides of the college. On behalf of SPB – Family I take this opportunity to extend my hearty compliments and good-wishes for the academic and professional progress of the faculty members.

It is very heartening to note that more than 425 students of our college are pursuing, along with the B. Com. degree course, professional courses like CA, CS, ICWA, etc,. Not only that many student of the college are also pursuing vocational courses related to computer and I.T., Fashion Designing, Gems & Jewelry Designing, etc. This year more than fifty students of T.Y. B.Com have appeared in qualifying examinations like CAT, XAT, NAT, GMAT etc., for admission to management courses after there graduation, being offered by the institute of national and international repute like IIM, XLRI, SYMBIOSIS, NMIMS, NIRMA, etc., Many of them are also planning to pursue their higher studies in Foreign Universities.

I am sure that above highlights, along with the relevant details in the magazine, will convince the readers about the talent our college possesses and the efforts our staff puts in to groom and nourish the talent. I am also sure that the contents of the magazine will also convince the readers that all the SPBians are well and truly on course of evolution in their career and character as envisioned by the college.

On behalf of the whole SPB-family I take this opportunity to express our hearty good wishes to our T.Y. B. Com. and M. Com.- II students who are about to take off in search of new “Blossoms” in their chosen career and evolution in their professional, social and personal life. May they be blessed by his choicest Blessings.

I also take this opportunity to express our deep sense of gratitude towards the officer bearers of our management, Sarvajanik Education Society, for their continuous support and encouragement in our endeavors.

Once again my most since compliments and good wishes to all the SPBians for their individual as well as collective efforts and achievements during the year. Herewith, I also express my full confidence in them that they will continue to follow the S-P-B motto for envisioned evolution in career and character of all the SPBians.

Congratulations to our Principal Dr. V. D. Naik

Team Spirit: A Work Ethic for a Work-Team

Dr. Vipin Naik,
Principal

The Concept of Team-Work:

Extensive studies over the decades have shown that the best business results are obtained when people work together with a sense of commitment to one another as well as to the organisation. Researchers have found that 'unity of purpose' is the chief distinguishing feature of an outstanding managerial group.

To do a really exceptional job, a work unit should have the same characteristics as a competitive sports team. Among these characteristics are:

1. A team is like an organic structure. It is made up of components, the persons or the players, but they come together to form a cohesive whole which is greater than the sum of its parts.

2. A team is interdependent. Each component or player supports the others. If the team succeeds, they all succeed; if it fails, they all fail. It is not inexcusable for a team to have an off day or to make mistakes; it is inexcusable to let the side down by not trying hard enough.

3. A team is stimulating. The actions and attitudes of the players spur their teammates on to greater efforts and achievements, achievements which they might have thought beyond their own personal abilities.

4. A team is enjoyable. People get a thrill from being on one. They like the comradeship, the sense of belonging, the sheer fun of being with a group.

5. A team is civilised. Though they may have their personality clashes and differences of opinion, the players have learned to interact and to share. They submerge their individual aspirations in a greater objective. And yet when the common goal is reached, they find that their individual goals have been satisfied too.

Team-Spirit does not evolve in a Work-Team. It is to be inculcated:

Sports-Teams and Well-Organized-Families are good metaphors for Work-Team. The games like Cricket, Basketball, Hockey, Rugby etc. can serve as metaphors for ultimate cooperation. They are the sports where success, as symbolised by the championship, requires that the dictates of the community prevail over selfish personal impulses.

The super stars of these games could not have shone so brightly without the back-up they received from their team-mates of lesser ability. Team sports do not demand equal skill or strength or attainment, but they do demand equal effort. Each player is expected to perform to the limit of the ability he has.

In a Sport-Team the team members have relatively simple rules to follow and less complex environment to face as compared to more complex rules and work-environment the Work-Team members have to follow and face. Therefore, in a work-team the team-spirit does not develop naturally. One of the major reasons for that is the fact that in a work-team appropriate recognition may be lacking when people work in work-groups. Teams demand certain conformity. A player must attend to his position and follow the game plan and the rules of the sport. This does not, however, lead to uniformity or monotony. Individuals are expected to take their own initiatives within the predetermined limits, but when an individual makes a brilliant play, it is on behalf of the team as an entity. Every member of the team can take pride in what that one player has achieved.

In many respects, a team is like a well-ordered family. In the 'give and take' and mutual support of the family circle, most of us learn how to conduct ourselves as members of a team. People who take up team play at an early age, whether in organised children's leagues or in their neighbourhoods and continue into adult life in school, college, and sports clubs, the team-spirit evolves in them because in a team play the team-spirit is nothing but an extension of the familial and social instincts that are part of a normal and well-adjusted personality.

From this we might jump to the conclusion that teamwork in business comes naturally. It would seem like a simple transfer, to a different environment or surroundings, of a mode of behaviour which we have practised all along in our familial and social life. There are, however, strong built-in obstacles to it. Though the team-work in sports and business has much in common, there are crucial differences between the two which make the team-spirit, an ideal of organisational teamwork, harder to realise than it would appear.

One of these has concerns with identity. With their uniforms, their supporters, a league to compete in and a championship at stake, athletes can identify wholeheartedly with their team because they know what they represent and where they stand.

Things are seldom so clear-cut for a work unit. Its opposition is out of sight and its ultimate objectives are often vague. Members may not know how well or poorly they are doing because it is difficult to measure accurately how a work unit in one organisation compares with its counterpart in another. To muddy the waters further, managers and supervisors may be members of two or more teams, teams of their peers concerned with planning, administration or project development and a team of subordinates. The interests of these groups may clash when, for instance, one wants to save money and the other to spend it for improving the working conditions. Unionised workers may also get caught up between conflicting forces in cases where unions and management see each other as adversaries. They are subject to pressure to choose between 'them and us.'

The identity problem also gets compounded by a lack of recognition. Athletes have their fans to cheer them, but members of a work team rarely have a chance to taste the glory which is such a powerful incentive for competing in sports. Unless corporate policy makes a deliberate point of giving the credit that is due to employees, most of them would labour in obscurity. When credit is forthcoming, it mostly goes to an individual, mainly the boss, rather than to the whole group. The traditional system of career development also does very little to encourage teamwork. By concentrating on personal advancement, it has more in common with training people to compete in solo sports such as boxing, tennis etc than with training them to play on a team. Their competitive instincts are channelled into dominating rivals including rivals among their own leagues.

The assumption that people are working together as a team when they are in fact doing the very opposite is also not uncommon. This is somewhat understandable since it is so easy to mistake the illusion of teamwork for the real thing. A group may function in organized manner and yet be nothing like a team.

It is very difficult to stimulate the group members to cooperate willingly with each other, to offer mutual help spontaneously when needed, and to have pride in their work force. In business this is almost always the result of managers trying to control every aspect of the operation. When people are ordered about without consultation, they are unlikely to volunteer their efforts or ideas. And they are unlikely to take on any more responsibility than the minimum expected of them, because by making all the decisions, the boss has taken all the responsibility upon himself.

A work-team is team only when it is built and the team-spirit is inculcated as a work ethic:

At a time when workers are more individualistic and better-educated than ever before, it is counterproductive not to afford them a reasonable measure of independence. In a situation where the boss insists on running a one-man show, the contributions their subordinates are capable of making go to waste.

Confronted with the desirability of giving their subordinates an extra independence, some managers may protest that this means abandoning their authority. But that is not true. The head of a work unit occupies much the same position as a coach in sports, and coaches have a good deal of disciplinary power. They can reprimand players, 'bench' them, suspend them, fine them, demote them, banish them or fire them. A winning coach, however, uses sanctions only as a last resort.

In any organization, teams evolve very rarely. Usually they are carefully developed. The 'team building' process must be concentrated on training an entire group and not just its leader in 'management' methods. Team building calls for employee participation in decision-making, working arrangements, target setting and quality control. It emphasises task specialisation to make the most of the unique personal traits and skills of members of a team. When that happens, the team-spirit becomes a work-ethic for every member of the team.

In view of this, it only makes sense to teach people to work together, and to develop managers who are more interested in coaching a team than in climbing to individual stardom. Teams can also be developed less formally through sensitive management and through steps to bolster an employee's sense of participation as personal work ethic because it is said that the spirit and practice of team-work must manifest throughout an organization if the stubborn institutional barriers to it are to be eliminated. Only then can it become more than just a word.

Transition to Ind AS (reference to Ind AS 16)

Dr. Martina Noronha,
Vice-Principal,
Faculty of Accountancy

India made a commitment towards the convergence of Indian accounting standards with IFRS at the G20 summit in 2009. In line with this, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India (MCA) previously issued a roadmap for implementation of Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) converged with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) beginning April 2011. However, this plan was suspended due to unresolved tax and other issues.

In the presentation of the Union Budget 2014–15, the Honorable Minister for Finance, Corporate Affairs and Information and Broadcasting proposed the adoption of Ind AS. In accordance with the Budget statement, the MCA has notified Company (Indian Accounting Standard) Rules 2015 vide its G.S.R dated 16 February 2015. Accordingly, it has notified 39 Ind AS and has laid down an Ind AS transition road map for companies other than banking companies, insurance companies and non- banking finance companies.

Key changes :

Costs eligible for capitalisation :

- Under current practice, capitalisation of administrative and general overheads specifically attributable to the construction of a project is permitted. Accordingly, in practice, the cost of fixed assets often includes expenses in the nature of start-up costs or pre-operative expenditure relating to a project.
- Ind AS provides that administrative and general overheads cannot be capitalised and only costs that are directly attributable to bringing the item of Property, plant and equipment (PPE) in its working condition or location can be capitalised.
- Currently, the transaction value is considered as the purchase cost of fixed assets.
- Ind AS defines the cost of acquisition as the amount of cash or cash equivalents paid or the fair value of other consideration given to acquire an asset. The concept of fair value of consideration would have implications in cases of deferred payment arrangements. In such cases, the amount capitalised would generally be the cash price equivalent. This would result in a lower upfront capitalisation. The difference between the amount so capitalised and the full transaction value will be treated as imputed interest cost, which will be charged to the profit and loss account over the payment period.
- Currently, there is diversity in practice on upfront recognition and capitalisation of asset retirement obligations. Several companies do not record such obligations until incurred.

• Ind AS requires that the cost of dismantling or removal of the asset, or restoration of the site, should be included as part of the initial cost of the asset. Accordingly, a liability equivalent to the present value of such costs would need to be recognised, with an equivalent amount capitalised as an additional cost component. Imputed interest would subsequently be recognised through the profit and loss account.

• Currently, following the notification issued by the MCA on 31 March 2009, several companies have elected to either capitalise foreign exchange differences or accumulate exchange differences in the Foreign Currency Monetary Item Translation Difference Account (which is subsequently amortised through the profi t and loss account over a period until 31 March 2011).

• Ind AS does not permit the capitalisation of foreign exchange differences. However in certain cases, exchange differences may be treated as a part of borrowing costs, and accordingly be capitalised as additional interest costs.

Borrowing costs :

• Currently, a qualifying asset is defined as an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale. A period of 12 months is ordinarily considered as a substantial period of time, unless a shorter or longer period can be justified.

• Under Ind AS, while the definition of a qualifying asset is the same, there are no rules for determining what constitutes 'a substantial period of time'. This assessment would be based on management's judgement.

• Currently, the contractual interest expense is considered as a part of borrowing costs.

• Under Ind AS, the amount of interest expense to be included as borrowing costs is based on the effective interest rate method, which means that imputed interest costs and amortisation of other costs of borrowings (for example, loan processing charges and upfront fees) will impact the amount of borrowing costs capitalised.

• Currently, borrowing costs are capitalised based on company level borrowings and no separate adjustments are made to compute group borrowing rate, except to eliminate any interest capitalised between companies within the consolidated group.

• Ind AS requires that the consolidated group's average borrowing rate needs to be considered for capitalisation of general borrowing costs. This means that in the consolidated financial statements, the total general borrowing costs at the group level need to be compared with the available qualifying assets at the group level, to determine borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation. This may result in a higher level of borrowing costs being capitalised.

• Currently, in practice, several companies capitalize borrowing costs of specific borrowings, but exclude borrowing costs on many general borrowings (for example, working capital loans).

- Under Ind AS, in the absence of sufficient specific borrowings, all general borrowings need to be considered for the purpose of capitalisation. Our experience indicates that this would result in additional amounts being capitalised.

Depreciation :

- Even though current principles require depreciation based on estimated useful life of assets, several companies provide depreciation based on the minimum rates prescribed under Schedule XIV to the Companies Act.

- Ind AS requires depreciation to be based on the estimate of useful life of assets, which may be different from the current depreciation rates. It additionally requires the residual value, useful life estimates and depreciation method to be reviewed at least at the end of each financial year. Any changes to these estimates are required to be accounted on a prospective basis.

- The proposed new Schedule XIV provides revised depreciation rates. Under this proposed schedule, the useful life estimates have been indicated for sector specific assets such as power, telecommunication, oil and gas and steel. However, these estimates are indicative and not binding on companies.

- Currently, there is a free choice with companies to follow either the straight-line method or the written down value method of depreciation for fixed assets.

- Such an option is not available under Ind AS. Ind AS requires that the depreciation method used needs to reflect the pattern in which the asset's future economic benefits are expected to be consumed by the company. Accordingly, only the method (straight-line or written down value) which is reflective of such pattern is applied for depreciation.

- Current principles encourage that the total expenditure of an asset to be allocated to its component parts and depreciation estimates for such components be made separately but there is diversity in practice on application of this principle.

Ind AS requires that components, which are significant and have a significantly different useful life, should be depreciated separately. Such components could also relate to non-tangible activities such as major inspections or overhauls. Hence, entities need to divide the cost of an asset into significant parts if their useful life is different, and depreciate them separately. This will require entities to restructure their fixed asset register and recomputed depreciation. Also, the requirement of estimating residual value is likely to change depreciation of many assets, as Indian entities normally presume 5% of the value of assets as their residual value, rather than making any estimate of the residual value. It may be noted that component accounting is a requirement under the Companies Act 2013, and even companies that continue to follow Indian

GAAP will have to carry out component accounting.

However, the objective of componentisation is not to split assets into infinite number of components; instead, it is based on the significance of the component to the total asset. This approach could result in smoothening of the cost of replacement of key components during overhauls.

Revaluation :

• Current practice allows a company to selectively revalue its fixed assets and record all gains in a separate revaluation reserve. The consequential additional depreciation charge due to the revaluation is subsequently withdrawn from the revaluation reserve. Accordingly, the profi and loss account is not impacted by the revaluation.

Ind AS does not allow a selective revaluation of fixed assets. Instead, Ind AS provides an accounting policy choice to follow the revaluation model for a class of assets. Under this policy choice, the revaluation would have to be frequent such that the assets are reported at values, which are representative of their fair values at each reporting period. The gains arising on revaluation are recorded directly in reserves. However, these reserves cannot be used to adjust any incremental depreciation arising due to the revaluation.

Indian entities, which have selectively revalued fixed assets or intend to revalue the fixed assets, will have to determine whether they want to continue with the revaluation model or not. This decision is crucial for an entity if it wants to continue with the revaluation model. It will have to:

- Adopt the revaluation model for the entire class of assets that cannot be restricted to some selective location
- Update such revaluation on regular basis
- Take a depreciation charge in the income statement based on revalued amounts

The revaluation option under Ind AS is unlikely to be adopted by many companies.

Considering the potential wide-ranging effects of the transition, the implementation effort would impact functions outside of the finance department, including IT, legal, sales, marketing, human resources, investor relations and senior management.

In addition the conversion to Ind AS will entail a business wide change management exercise and should be approached using a structured methodology encompassing best practices of project management. Such methodology ensures conversion assignments are properly planned and executed.

Sports Event Management

Dr. Ashok Saha,
Faculty in Physical Education

Sports event management is Organization of sports competitions. Organizing competitions include planning, establishing the organizational structure and develop working relationships and methods to reach the goals. The organizational structure includes chains of command, span of control and separate units, teams or working groups dealing with different areas of work. It is the process by which an event is planned ,prepared and produced. . Purpose of planning an event is important to understand why the event is being held, who it is for and who it will benefit. Having a clear focus and defined objectives will help direct the planning process. Timing and location of the event When and where an event takes place can have a significant impact on its overall success.

Organising a sport or recreation event can be a daunting task, particularly for an individual or committee planning an event for the first time. While the scale of the events varies dramatically, the principles of event management essentially remain the same. This information sheet provides an overview of some of the major issues to consider when planning and running an event. Planning and preparation Effective planning and preparation are crucial to the success of an event. There are numerous elements involved in planning and preparation. While considering the best time of the day, month or year to hold an event, it is important to consider other events that may compliment or compete with the event you are organising. With regard to location, there are many variables to consider, including the availability of facilities, accommodation, transport, and the support of local stakeholders. Organising Structure must encompass the widest range of tasks associated with the event. Every important event must follow the financial plan provided that the plan depends on the type of events and goals. Each event requires the appropriate personnel. Immediate events events (games, festivals, exhibitions ...) must be preceded by detailed planning. Detailed planning is achieved with the help of network planning, production flow chart of activities, calendars, and target dates.

So when we talk about project management in sport, to consider a much larger vision, a new project management perspective, they involve a responsibility for the implementation of an event with global impact on very long term. Sports projects as history shows us, played a significant role in developing societies. Also, all major sports industry projects had at a somewhat modest cheer, developing exponentially along the history, often in spite of all chances. The scope of the industry is now so large that establishing new market data is a major task.

The concept of a sports event, in the broadest context of sports activities, can be seen in the nature of his office. If the main activity of sports training and competition is considered, then a sort of sporting event is a mirror of their effectiveness. As in sports, in addition to training and competition, emerging and other important elements that enable their existence and implementation (management of sport organizations, sport politics, social orientation and system, etc..) Sporting event has a much broader dimension to the evaluation of their effectiveness and effectiveness.

People's President Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam

Ms. N. Padma,
Librarian

I'm an ardent admirer of Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam and the moment I heard about his demise, the child on the book "Ignited minds" flashed in front of my eyes. The book with its thought provoking and packed insightfulness asks the individual to question. Sadly these days we don't encourage questioning and seeking answers in a passive mode does not bring in the so called awareness but a simple way to tide out in that moment.

Dr. Abdul Kalam was one of the most distinguished scientists of India with the unique honour of receiving honorary doctorates from 30 universities and institutions. He has been awarded the coveted civilian awards - Padma Bhushan (1981) and Padma Vibhushan (1990) and the highest civilian award Bharat Ratna (1997). Dr. Kalam took up academic pursuit as Professor, Technology & Societal Transformation at Anna University, Chennai from November 2001 and was involved in teaching and research tasks. Above all this so called "Missile Man" took up a mission to ignite the young minds for national development by meeting high school students across the country. As reported in media, Dr. Kalam was that rabbit pulled out of the hat by then Prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee and Vajpayee was "atal" in zeroing on this top scientist cum bureaucrat with unconvincing looks who proved himself to be the most refreshing Indian President.

Dr. Kalam became the 11th President of India on 25th July 2002. His focus was on transforming India into a developed nation by 2020. Being a humble visionary he asked us to follow the 'ASK' principle, to have a passion to do the work that you are in, to have rational principles in life which one should always abide by, and to be down to earth.

In his literary pursuit four of Dr. Kalam's books - "Wings of Fire", "India 2020 - A Vision for the New Millennium", "My journey" and "Ignited Minds - Unleashing the power within India" have become household names in India and among the Indian nationals abroad. These books have been translated in many Indian languages and some are available even in Braille, Other works from Dr. Kalam are Target 3 Billion, Inspiring Thoughts, Turning Points, You Are Born To Blossom, Mission India: A Vision for Indian Youth, Indomitable Spirit, and My Journey: Transforming Dreams Into Actions.

"Great dreams of great dreamers are always transcended," said APJ Abdul Kalam. One of the country's most inspiring scientist-philosophers, Kalam's words of wisdom continue to inspire and ignite the minds of young Indians. The Upadhyay brothers from Mumbai released 'Burn like the Sun' in late January, as a tribute to the former President of India. The prime focus was on his philosophy, and the lyrics are based on his quotes.

Widespread popularity among diverse groups in India, and an enduring aspect of his legacy, is the syncetism he embodied in appreciating the various spiritual and cultural traditions of India. Our country has lost a great human being who made phenomenal contributions to the promotion of self reliance in defence technologies. His life and work will be remembered for generations to come. A great personality and a gentleman Dr. Kalam is remembered as a global leader for whom the downtrodden and poor people were priority. He always had a passion to convey what is in his mind in very simple terms to the young generation. Being a man of firm conviction and indomitable spirit, an outstanding statesman of the world his demise is an irreparable loss not only to India but to the entire world.

Life is too short to wake up with regrets.

Love the people who treat you right.

Forget about the ones who don't.

Believe everything happens for a reason.

If you get a second chance, grab it with both hands.

If it changes your life, let it.

Nobody said life would be easy.

They just promised it would be worth it.

Stay Hungry Stay Foolish

Yogita Soni,
T.Y.B.Com.

I am assuming that you must be aware of the author of these fantabulous lines, but let us not embarrass the ones who are not cognizant of the fact! So now I would like to mention the name of the hungry and foolish (in a positive way) person – Mr Steve Jobs who is the cofounder, chairman & CEO of your favourite, luxury brand "Apple Inc." and several such other companies which were the result of his hunger and lust for learning more.

In the above phrase negative adjectives are used in a positive way. 'Stay hungry' can be interpreted as 'stay eager'. You should never be satisfied and always push yourself towards the things you always avoid or which are hidden deep inside yourself, the things which you've always dreamt for. One must always be curious to learn more and achieve more out of it. The hunger could be for any damn thing whether it be the goals, love, passion, kindness, creativity, or anything. But the chosen goal should always for your satisfaction. The goal should not be just about money, instead it should be for living the life the way you want to. As you all know, money is not permanent.

"Don't pray for an easy life, pray for the strength to endure a hard one."

Each and every person on Earth has some or the other desires or we can call them secret things which they want to do at least once in their lifetime. But they don't take up those things due to some reason. And this reason is fear. Fear from whom? The public? OR "Woh chaar log kya kahenge?" The ones who are always interested in just sitting and watching the drama with a blank mind which is always ready to fill it up with any kind of stories going on in the nation. Such people can never decide about your goals and performance for the same. Never be afraid to come out of the closet and show the world who you really are. If people don't like it that's not your problem because every person has the right to do what they want to. You may lose some friends along the way because they having different views on your desires but that does not mean that you give up because of their opinions. You must trust and be assured that you will attract higher vibrational connections with the people that support you on your journey and fully accept you as you are.

"Life will never change, we should select new things and move on."

The next important thing is never to be restless and in hurry to achieve goals as haste is always harmful. You must have noticed that whenever you work in hurry, you make some mistake. Example, while driving fast when you are late, drinking water hurriedly or eating food very fast which could lead to indigestion. So are the decisions taken in hurry which could not be beneficial in the long run. Everyone wants their dreams to come true soon. But it needs patience and constant efforts from your side. That's it. You will surely achieve the way you dreamt of it.

"Be patient, good things bloom in a perfect time."

Another hunger could be 'The Elixir of love' - We are born of love; love is our mother. Love is the most powerful and most beautiful of all which could be used as a sweetener in the relations, friendships. Through love all that is bitter will be sweet as sugar, through love all that is copper will be gold, through love all dregs will become wine, love could turn all pain and burns to medicine. Love could convert the wars into peace. You must always have hunger for love which is the only thing never going to disappoint you.

The another word in the phrase –'Stayfoolish' which can be interpreted as 'be ready to try new things' or 'be ready to step out of your comfort zone'. Dare to make unconventional decision as Steve jobs did when he quit his college to pursue his quest, as Gandhiji did when he adopted Satyagraha against oppression, as Warren Buffet did early in his career when he made some well calculated investments in low priced high potential companies. In this case some people might call you foolish but providence will prove that it pays to be foolish. Be true to work and make yourself proud. Be passionate for your hobbies. Take up some new hobbies and go out of the way which could make you creative and innovative. The age and thoughts are never ending that means you will never stop growing. From childhood till the superannuation, you keep on learning whether it be academics, life lessons, spirituality, or anything. Even the old people above 60 do not stop after their retirement, then why should we at this age! They change their lifestyle according to the changing generations which is the best example of learning.

"Being great at what you do is a gift you give to yourself"

Lastly, the results, the D-Day on which everyone feels nervousness and anxiety! Never be worried about the results. The results will always be the outcomes of your efforts, whether good or bad depending on your efforts.You should never be overconfident or lack confidence, as both leads to imperfection. If you are confident and you fail, then you must not get disappointed, as failure is the feedback that we get from our work, which makes us aware of our mistakes we did. And when we are aware of our mistakes, we could work in a better manner. Behind every successful man there are lots of unsuccessful years and there are umpteen of examples that you all must be aware.We all are the creation of God and mistakes are the nature of man which keeps man always learning.

"Ever tried, ever failed, no matter, try again, fail again, and fail better."

Once a man lost almost everything in a fire, next day he placed a signboard, "Shop burnt! Goods burnt! But FAITH not burnt! "That's the spirit! "Ups & downs in life are very important to keep us going, because a straight line even in an ECG means we are not alive. Look at yourselves as being potentially as the leaders of tomorrow" --- Ratan Tata

"If you are hungry and foolish, you are willing to learn.

Build a life you don't need a vacation from."

હું માનવી માનવ થાવ તો ઘણું.....

Dhruv Gangadwala,
M.Com. Part-II

શાસ્ત્ર કહે છે કે, દરેક જીવ ૮૪ લાખના ફેરા માંથી પસાર થઈ મનુષ્યનો દેહ ધારણ કરે છે. જરા ઊંડે ઉતરીને વિચારીશું તો અહેસાસ થશે કે કુદરતની કોઈ સૌથી મોટી અજાયબી હોય તો એ ''માનવી'' છે.

દુઃખની વાતતો એ છે કે આ ૨૧મી સદીની દોડધામમાં અને ભૌતિક સુખ મેળવવા માનવી એટલો વ્યસ્ત થઈ ગયો છે કે એને બીજા માનવીની પડી નથી. એ માટે ઘણાં ઉદાહરણો છે. ઘણી વાર રિક્ષામાં બેસી જતા હોઈએ ત્યારે બહાર જોવા મળે કે જે અપંગ ભિખારી આટલા ટ્રફિકમાં ઘસડાતો ઘસડાતો ભીખ માંગતો હોય અને કોઈ સ્ત્રી કે પુરુષ જે રીતે તે ભિખારીને તરછોડી અપમાન કરતા હોય તે જોઈને એકવાર તો તે વ્યકિતઓ ઉપર સહેજે ઘૃણા આવી જાય અને મનોમન વિચાર આવે કે તે ભિખારીનો શું વાંક કે એને આવા નસીબ મળ્યા હશે ! ભલે આપણે તેને રાતી પાઈ આપીએ નહિ. પણ ધુત્કારીયે તો નહિ જ.

આપણને આજે ઘણા નામાંકિત ડૉકટર્સ અને હોસ્પિટલનાં અનુભાવ થતા હોય છે. જેમાં કેટલા ખૂબ સારા તો કેટલાક ખૂબ ખરાબ હોય છે કે ડૉકટર્સ અને હોસ્પિટલના સંચાલકો પોતે માણસ હોવાનું ભૂલી જાય છે કે જેને ભ્રષ્ટાચાર તો નહિ પણ ખુલ્લેઆમ લૂંટે ચલાવતા અનુભવ્યે અને કેહતા સાંભળ્યા છે કે, ડૉકટરી ભણવાનો ખર્ચ બહુ થયેલો એ વસૂલ તો કરવો પડે ને ? વાત સાચી પણ શું જિંદગી સુધી ખર્ચ વસૂલ કરવામાં રહેશે કે માનવતાને બાજુ પર મૂકી માનવતા કચરી નાખશે !

અને આ સમયે આંખના કોઈ માનવી માનવી બની લૂછી લે તો આ વિશ્વની કાયા કે પલટાય જાય

આથી જ તો કહેવાય છે કે ''હું માનવી માનવ થાઉં તો ઘણું.....''

Do the best you can, until you know better, when you know better, do the better.

My College Days

Rachna Mehta,
T.Y.B.Com.

Those were the best days of my life,
When fun and frolic was rife.
A refreshing realm of knowledge ,
That was my college.

Funny friends and loving lecturers,
Freaky fundas and flexible study hours.
Riddles and rumours, gossips and giggles-umpteen,
Added spice to the junk I hogged at the college canteen.

I loved to study English Literature,
And the subject suited my sensitive nature.
I was initiated into the world of stories, poems and plays,
Each lecture set my imagination ablaze.

My college was a literary paradise,
Where I learnt to critically analyse.
Every text that came my way,
Be it poetry, prose or play.

Free from the fetters of school,
I willingly jumped into the knowledge pool.
Where education was mixed with entertainment,
At college, learning was never a punishment.

E. SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

NSS SPECIAL RESIDENTIAL CAMP –

A LEARNING EXPERIENCE

28th-03rd November, 2015

As we say "Charity begins at home", the NSS Unit of S.P.B. English Medium College of Commerce organised the 7 days Special Residential Camp at its adopted village Kukni, Taluka Olpad, District Surat. With fun comes work and with work comes responsibility and this was magnified as the team worked in unison towards development of the village adopted by our college NSS Unit. The purpose of organizing this special camp was to provide an opportunity to the students/volunteers to explore their talents and to involve themselves in social service.

The camp was organised from 28th to 03rd November, 2014. 24 N.S.S Volunteers had actively participated in this camp under the guidance and supervision of NSS Programme Officers - Dr. Ashish Pandya and Ms. Farida Mandviwala. The camp was based on the theme "Youth for Sustainable Development".

- ★ Various activities conducted during the 7 days NSS Special Residential Camp include mainly the following:
- ★ Morning Exercise, Running, Meditation and Yoga
- ★ Labour work was carried on by the NSS volunteers- Leveling of Ground and filling it with stones and tiles and thereafter cleaning of the village community hall.
- ★ Pre Medical Camp Survey was conducted by the NSS Volunteers for the Free Medical Checkup Camp

Dr. Sunil Oza – Opthalmologist, Dr. Meena Shah – Dentist, Dr. Biren Sitwala – Cardiologist/ Physician provided their services at the camp. About 40 patients got benefitted with the free-medical checkup.
- ★ A sapling plantation activity was done in the premises of the Kukni Primary School. Total 25 saplings were planted in the area. The NSS volunteers enjoyed digging the ground and they showed interest in planting the saplings.
- ★ Students were imparted Computer education relating to opening of e-mail accounts and drafting of mails
- ★ Poster drawing completion on "Cleanliness and Environment" and Essay writing competition on "Honorable Sardar Patel and his life" was organised for school and NSS students.

- ★ Sports day celebration - Various games like Lemon and Spoon race, Sack race, musical chairs etc were organized for the students of the primary school with the aim to inculcate importance of sports and physical health in the children's lives.
- ★ Interesting Guest Lectures were delivered for the students by eminent speakers from different fields as under:
  - ✦ Dr. Ajit Naik, Professor in Statistics, Sir K.P.Evening College of Commerce, Surat threw light on how to save unnecessary expenditure of our country by implementing the new policy relating to timings
  - ✦ Mr. Madhukar Padvi, Principal, MTB Arts College, Surat shared some important life lessons and explained the importance of NSS to the students.
  - ✦ Dr. Rekha Bhatt, Head of Gujarati department of MTB Arts College, Surat engaged the volunteers in management games and motivated the students by awarding the winner.
  - ✦ Dr. Mukesh Mahida, Principal of P.T Science College, Surat motivated the students with his thought provoking words.
  - ✦ Dr. Ashok Saha, the Sports Professor of SPB English Medium College of Commerce shared with the volunteers how to contribute in Nation's Development. He also explained the importance of physical exercise and meditation in life.
  - ✦ Dr. Gaurang Rami, Professor of Economics Department, VNSGU shared with students the purpose and importance of such N.S.S camps and role of NSS volunteers in serving the nation.
- ★ Street play was performed by the NSS volunteers on the theme "Save Girl Child". All the performers of the play portrayed the topic very well and gave the message to treat girl child equally, to educate them and also give them a chance to come in this world. It was an emotionally charged event with meaningful for the orthodox people of the society.
- ★ N.S.S. Volunteers also conducted Cultural Activities like Garba, singing patriotic songs, bhajans and prayers and Camp fire etc.
- ★ Visited Steneshwar Shiv temple and Shri Laxmikant Ashram to get a glimpse of the Indian culture among the students.

It was really an awesome experience being a part of this 7 day special camp. We will cherish these memories forever, even though the camp days are over.

EDUCATIONAL EXCURSION

The students of M.Com were taken to visit the A.P.M.C market of Surat on 6th February, 2016. The visit was a detailed one informing the working of the wholesale vegetable market which works round the clock. The working of the market is systematic. The whole process of buying and selling is done by the licensed traders/farmers. Each transaction with the buyers is noted and recorded by the management. The annual turnover of the market crossed nearly 2.5 crores tonnes of vegetable in the previous year. We were also shown a presentation on the whole process from the development of the agriculture market in India to the establishment of A.P.C.M in Gujarat. We were also informed that a new market has been started in a new area which is not only a wholesale market for vegetable but also a retail store. The visit was enjoyable.

LIBRARY

Every year it is a dutiful practice to make annual reports about the strength in the library. Handling the library resources is an inherent measure of the value of the library collections and services. Our faculty and students use the library's collections and this use implies that these collections are of value to them. This is the key for life in the library. In addition to many regular services, a book review event was organized for City level Colleges.

Book Bank Facility started is 2007 in getting strength year after year with appreciation from the students. Acquisition of Books on competitive examinations for lectureship, Civil Services, Central and State Government services are the most sought after. This shows the major shift in the young students' attitude towards employment. A positive state of affairs is witnessed about the Central Government's "Startup India Initiative" as many students have shown interest while searching the web and interaction with the librarian.

As a tribute to Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam, an Inter college Book Review on Dr. Abdul Kalam's works was organized under the auspices of Library Committee and Debate & Elocution Committee. The review on the books was to be presented in any of the three languages viz. English, Gujarati and Hindi. Two most admired and popular books among the youth, Ignited Minds and Wings of Fire were selected from his works.

Honourable Judges for the event were prominent personalities in literature Dr. Madhukar Padvi, Principal & Hod Dept. of Hindi, MTB arts College, Surat and Dr. Vijay Sevak, Dept. of English, VTC College of Education, Surat.

"Ignited Minds:" Dr. Kalam has dedicated Ignited Minds to an intermediate school child, named Snehal Thakkar, from a school in Gujarat for her answer "Our enemy is poverty". The small book of 205 pages contains dynamic and original ideas, examines attitudes afflicting the Indians, and presents prescriptions for rapid growth of India to enable the country to emerge as a developed country. The scientist and the seer inside Kalam has addressed the book to young citizens of India.

"Wings of Fire": In this autobiographical account Dr. Kalam examined his early life, effort, hardship, fortitude, luck and chance that eventually led him to lead Indian space research, nuclear, and missile programs. For people who get disappointed by failures rather than dealing with it, it is an inspirational journey to search for making an opportunity from it.

Many colleges participated in the event and made the day an euphoric and elated one. It was a feast of words and ideas to the audience from the young minds about Dr. Kalam. A refreshing day it was as the speakers one after one threw new light on these most inspiring books. The day was a great salute to the man for professing that "We all are born with divine fire in us. Our efforts should be to give wings to this fire and fill the world with glow of its goodness." Comments and pieces of advice given by the Judges were commendable and motivating to the participants.

VISION

Competence in Career
And
Correctitude in Character

The VISION of Surat People's Bank (SPB) English Medium College of Commerce, embodied in the above motto, is to be a leading participant in the "Sarvajanik" process of grooming citizens who are respected in their profession for their knowledge, skills and competence and recognised in the society as responsible, progressive, secular humanists committed to moral and social correctitude.

MISSION

Study

Blossom

Since well directed formal as well as informal "Studies" and "Performances" are the pivotal intrinsic forces leading to "Blossom" (Progress / Prosperity / Maturity); a stage of evolution; in Career and Character of a person, the Mission of the college, for envisioned evolution in the careers and characters of all the SPBians, is to make them lifelong followers of the maxim embodied in the above motto.
